

ABSTRACT

A method and an apparatus to configure a multi-port device are disclosed. The method includes defining a first set of pointers, one for each port of the multi-port device, and storing the first set of pointers in one or more capability structures of the multi-port device.